Abstract:

We describe and reflect on the cultural events connected to 12th Socratic Lectures. The satellite events included, in the chronological order: the performance of Lara Oprešnik at the Musikverein, Vienna within the New year concert on January 8, 2025, the Z-STEAM social networking event with the concert on January 11, 2025 at the Julij Betteto Hall, Kazina, Academy of Music, University of Ljubljana, and the organ recital of Roberta Schmid from Napoli, Italy, at the Church of Assumption, Tromostovje. Socratic Lectures continue as international events promoting science and arts.

1. The concept of Socratic Lectures

According to Plato, a man named Socrates and his pupils assembled in a place near to the sea. They were discussing things that interested them in a pleasant atmosphere. Socrates stated and the pupils responded as to agree or disagree. Then they asked questions. It required little knowledge (in the form of data) from the pupils but a lot of curiosity and reasoning. The dialogues were respectful and polite and created a room of gentleness. It only took acknowledging and liking it to enter this room, which seemed simple and easy. In contrast to sophistic teaching, there was no formal scheme and no exchange of money. However, Plato's interpretation of the significance of money concerns not just teaching, but in fact all human activities (Schindler, 2009). Socratic Lectures aim at reaching the spirit of interest in the matter, common well being, gentleness and politeness above all other reasons. In particular, it is a point where excellent scientists share their experience with the students and the students contribute their dedication. Also, it is a point of meeting of different fields from science and arts to inspire creation of new ideas. The team of Socratic lectures is constituted of those who have donated as the participants of the activities of the Socratic Lectures.

2. Z-STEAM activities and integration of science and arts

STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, Mathematics) Education is an approach to learning that uses Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics as access points for guiding student inquiry, dialogue, and critical thinking. While this approach has been acknowledged at the primary and high school level, it has only recently been introduced to higher education (Carter et al., 2021). Socratic Lectures have early integrated visual arts and music with science and are open for other forms of art and achievements aiming at life-friendly world and excellence. Formal collaboration has been established between nine faculties of the University of Ljubljana and the Academy of Music within the project Nanostrukturome financed by the Slovenian Research Agency in collaboration with the University of Ljubljana. Participants from the Academy of Music contributed lectures at the symposium devoted to baroque music, in particular the work of Claudio Monteverdi, and performed at the concert selected pieces from Monteverdi's opera Coronation of Poppaea. The partners of the project Nanostrukturome will support the production of the opera with the premiere set in July 2025.

3. Music events of the 12-th Socratic Lectures

The satellite events included, in the chronological order: the performance of Lara Oprešnik at the Musikverein, Vienna within the New year concert on January 8, 2025, the Z-STEAM social networking event with the concert on January 11, 2025 at the Julij Betteto Hall, Kazina, Academy of Music, University of Ljubljana, and the organ recital of Roberta Schmid from Napoli, Italy, at the Church of Assumption, Tromostovje. Socratic Lectures continue as international events promoting science and arts.

3.1. Lara Oprešnik and her performance at the Musikverein, Vienna, within the New year concert

Lara Oprešnik started playing piano at the age of seven in the class of Professor Monika Vehovec and violin in the class of Professor Igor Ulokin. Later she studied with Professor Jožica Grebenšek and Professor Jernej Grebenšek. She graduated from the Academy of Music in Ljubljana, Slovenia, under Professor Hinko Haas and from the University of Music and Performing Arts in Graz, Austria, under Professor Milana Černjavška. In 2023 she received her Master's degree from the Academy of Music in Ljubljana, in the class of Professor Ruben Dalibaltayan. She studied with Laszlo Baranyay, Jasminka Stančul, Lovro Pogorelić, Rita Kinka, Oleg Maršev, Natasha Kudritska and Julia Gubajdulina. During her studies she received the Prešeren Student Prize of the University of Ljubljana. She has performed as a soloist with orchestras at home and abroad. In 2024, she recorded Saint-Saëns' chamber work Animal Carnival and a longer programme of her own compositions, approximately one hour long, as part of the From the Pen of Slovenian Composers series. She has given solo recitals at numerous national and international festivals (Vienna, Trieste, Tenerife, Lamporecchio, Ljubljana, Gorizia, Rome, Citta di Cervignano, Belgrade, etc.). On 8 January 2025, she performed with the Vienna City Orchestra at the gala New Year's Concert at the Vienna Musikverein as the first prize-winner of the Vienna New Year's Concert, an international music competition.

Miha Červ who attended the concert at the Musikverein (Figure 1), reflected on the performance of Lara Oprešnik: "I wore the best dress I own - my wedding dress. I didn't want to go to the Musikverein dressed casually, because that's where the fine gentlemen usually gather. But it turned out that my fears were unnecessary, because the assembled company was very varied in the formality of their dress, and so I stood out neither as too well dressed nor as too poorly dressed. The concert was intended to showcase the soloists - the winners of the competition, accompanied by the Wiener Stadtorchester (Vienna City Orchestra) under the baton of Christian Schulz. Almost exactly at eight o'clock, the orchestra members came on stage and tuned up. The first part of the concert was introduced by the orchestra itself with a piece by Handel, and then the soloists took the stage for the following pieces; viola, two opera singers and oboe. After the interval, I returned to the hall, where a large concert Steinway had just appeared on stage. My neighbour, with whom I had chatted earlier, whispered to me: 'Jetzt kommt Ihre Favoritin!'. And after the orchestra had tuned up again, Lara Oprešnik started. She played the first movement of Scriabin's concerto for piano and orchestra in F sharp minor. The performance was sovereign and dramatic. The orchestra and Lara were well matched and the performance of the piece was without any perceivable mistakes for me. Lara earned a roaring applause and it was interesting to see her bow to the audience laughing after such a serious piece. This was followed by a piece for which the conductor changed and the winner of the conductor category took over the orchestra, and then a reappearance of the opera singer. The concert ended with a piece written by Christian Schulz himself. At the end of the music, the conductor presented the prizes to the competitors. I may be a little biased, but I would say that Lara received a little more applause than the other prize winners. At the end I had the opportunity to congratulate the pianist briefly and then I returned home under the good impression of the musical evening."

3.2. Social event at the Betteto hall with concert of classical and contemporary music and poetry

The concert (Figures 2-5) had three parts, the first part was devoted to classical music, followed by an intermezzo of poetry by Ifigenija Simonović and Slovene choral music. The third part was devoted to contemporary music, with emphasis on original compositions integrating science.

Egon Mihajlovič studied harpsichord and early keyboard instruments at the Frankfurt Conservatory of Music and Performing Arts, where he also completed his postgraduate studies. Since 1990 he has performed as harpsichordist, conductor and artistic director of baroque opera and sacred baroque music at major concert venues and festivals in Europe and the United States. He has taught at music art colleges and music academies in Wurzburg, Nuremberg, Cetinje and Pesaro. He is currently Professor of Harpsichord and Head of the Department of Early Music and Head of the Chair at the Academy of Music of the University of Ljubljana. In 2013 he was awarded a golden plaque of the University of Ljubljana for his outstanding contribution to the development of scientific, pedagogical or artistic endeavours.

Anita Prelovšek studied flute with Professor Anđela Blažeka in Ljubljana, Professor Luisa Sello in Udine and Trieste, Professor Karolina Šantl-Zupan in Ljubljana and Professor Gladys Bouchet at the Conservatoire National de Région in Rennes, France. She graduated at the Giuseppe Tartini Conservatory of Music in Bologna and specialised at the "Istituto Superiore di Studi Musicali O.Vecchi-A.Tonelli" in Modena, where her professors were Gabriele Betti, Michele Marasco and Andrea Oliva. She performs as a soloist and in various chamber ensembles in concerts at home and abroad.

Ronja Prapotnik, Eva Kokot, Brina Vukovič, Alessandra Tessaro and Nives Hadžič study singing at the Academy of Music, University of Ljubljana.

Elena Startseva Somun studied piano at the Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky Moscow Conservatory of Music and did postgraduate studies in chamber music at the Far Eastern Academy of Arts and Music in Vladivostok. She performs as a soloist and in chamber ensembles at home and abroad. She has taught at the Sergei Prokofiev Music School in Vladivostok, the Jilin Academy of Music in Changchun, China and the Idrija Music School.

Violinist Vasily Melynikov studied at the Minsk Academy of Music with Olga Parkomenko and at the Moscow Conservatoire of Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky with Professors Bezrodny and Belenka. In 1997 he won first prize at the Vienna Modern Masters International Competition in Vienna. He has been a member of the Belarusian State Chamber Orchestra, the Camerata Slovenica String Quartet, the Ljubljana Piano Trio and the Zagreb Soloists Orchestra. From 2004 to 2010 he was concertmaster of the RTV Slovenia Symphony Orchestra. He has taught at the Ljubljana Conservatory of Music and Ballet and at the Academy of Music, where he was head of the string department and mentor of the Academy of Music Symphony Orchestra. Vasilij Meljnikov is the recipient of the Betetti Prize (2005) for artistic achievement in the field of creative music and for his efforts to spread musical culture.

Emil Somun is studying trombone in the class of prof. Matija Mlakar. He performed at the Z-STEAM events connected to the Socratic lectures in Ljubljana and Naples since 2022.

Ifigenija Simonović is writing poetry, essays, book reviews, translating, and painting various objects for more than fifty years. She is the author of ten poetry collections, three books of essays, three books for children, and is also known as a publisher of eight books of poetry by Vitomil Zupan. In 2009, she received the Rožanec award. Between 2017 and 2021, she was the president of the Slovenian PEN Center. Her poetry is often dark, but love persistently shines through the cracks that are drawn on her path by real-time.

Chorus Studenec Pivka, led by Irena Rep, is composed of experienced singers. In its 22 seasons, various genres were performed but the singers prefer to sing arrangements of folk songs. They have around 30 concerts annually, home and abroad, most importantly, the visits to Slovenian societies throughout Europe.

Samo Kralj is playing piano in PhD Big Bang Band since 2007. The band consists of 7 researchers from all over Slovenia and they have on average 3 performances per year.

Violinist Branko Brezavšček graduated from the Academy of Music in Ljubljana in the class of Prof. Dejan Bravničar. He was a member of the Slovenian Philharmonic Orchestra, concertmaster and soloist of the chamber ensemble Carnium, member and soloist of the Slovenian Chamber Ensemble under the direction of conductor Anton Nanut, first violinist of the Muzina Quartet, concerto soloist accompanied by piano, guitar and organ. He performed in Slovenia, Austria, Italy, Germany and USA. He recorded for RTV Slovenia and Radio Trieste.

Kaya Tokuhisa studied classical singing with professors Tatjana Vasle, Maria Cristina Kiehr, Ulrich Messthaler, Harry van der Kamp, Snežana Nena Brzaković, Marianna Váradi, Thomas Heyer, Edita Garčević Koželj and Urška Arlič Gololičič, and chanson with professor Žare Prinčič. She received Master's degree in Theatre singing in 2023. Together with the Hungarian pianist Beata Barcza and in ensembles she performs in concerts home and abroad. She performed at the Slovenian Philharmonic in the honour of the visit by His Imperial Highnesses prince and princess Akishino in 2013. With pianist Rok Lopatič and accordionist Žiga Vehovec, they formed a band called Café Noisette.

Barbara Kobal attended musical school in Idrija. She mainly composes music and writes lyrics for chansons and songs. Her works were performed in public. The composition "It snows" was performed in Cankarjev dom and Slovenian Philharmonic, Ljubljana where it was warmly received. She participated at festivals Spevslam and Slovenian chanson and at numerous cultural events. This is her first presentation at the Z-STEAM event satellite to the 12th Socratic Lectures symposium.

Jana Jamšek studied piano with Prof. Irma Hladnik and later organ at the Organ School in Ljubljana with Prof. Gregor Klančič. She has appeared as a soloist in interpretations of piano works by J.S. Bach, C. Saint-Saens and J. Brahms, in chamber ensembles with instrumentalists and singers, and as an accompanist for classical ballet. She has been participating in the Socratic Lectures since 2008. As an organist, she performs in concerts of the Organ School and in services at the Trnovo Church.

Aleona von Sultanova received a diploma at the Music College Tchaikovsky in Kazakstan. She studied saxophone, and is presently studying organ at the Theological Faculty, University of Ljubljana. She is composing and performing poems (voice and piano). For her compositions, she received international awards at the Festival of Russian Romances (Škofja Loka) and Festival of Children Songs Veseli veter (Novo Mesto). She performed at the International UNESCO Sharq Taronalari festival in Samarkand, Uzbekistan. In 2024 she received an award from South Arts and Health Envoy and 2 Platinum and 2 Gold prizes at the Max Bruch International Music Competition. She is the ambassador of ESTEAM (Entrepreneurship + STEAM: Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics) Program of the European Union to empower girls to pursue a STEM career and an inventor of SMS (Stories based on Music about Scientists) method. She performed at satellite events to the Socratic lectures and Z-STEAM events in Ljubljana and Naples, Italy. In 2024, she had a concert at the Academy Enrico Caruso, Naples, Italy.

3.3. Organ recital of Roberta Schmid

The program of the recital:

D. Buxtehude: Passacaglia in D minor BuxWV 161

J. S. Bach: Choral Das alte Jahr vergangen ist BWV 614

J. S. Bach: Choral Erbarme dich mein Gott BWV 721

A.G. Ritter: Sonate no. 2 in E minor op.19

G. Mushel: Toccata

J. Rheinberger: Passacaglia

L. Vierne: Carillon de Westminster

Roberta Schmid has contributed significantly to the Z-STEAM activities in Ljubljana and in Naples, Italy since 2019. In 2024, she participated at the concert that took place in Villino Manina organized by the University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Faculty of Health Sciences, and Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche, Napoli, Italy. At that concert, she performed on the piano a Slovene song entitled "Marinki" recently composed by Davorin Zupanič Turković, thereby promoting contemporary Slovene music internationally. Roberta Schmid took her diploma in Organ and Organ Composition at the Musical Conservatoire "S. Pietro a Maiella" in Naples with the mentorship of prof. A.M.Robilotta and then improved her technique with maestros of international standing such as L. Ghielmi, E. Kooiman, M. Radulescu, D. Roth, K. Schnorr, L. F. Tagliavini, M. Torrent, P. Westerbrinck, W. Zerer, specializing her executive practice in different organ repertoires. After getting through a national examination she attended a three year course in Professional training as an Organist at the Musical Academy in Pistoia and took a diploma in "Italian and German Organ Music Interpretation". She attended a three year course in Gregorian Chant at the International Study Centre of Gregorian Chant in Cremona. She also took diplomas in Piano and in Musical Didactics, and, lately, the second level degree specializing in Organ interpretation and composition, recently introduced in Italian Music Conservatoires. She has a very busy professional life performing at concerts as a soloist and in chamber formations. As a soloist, she has been invited to take part in numerous international organ festivals - in Europe and in Mexico - and she has always been highly acclaimed by public and critics alike. She also performs for: Quarto Festival Internacional de Organo de Zamora Michoacán (Mexico), Primer Ciclo Internacional de Conciertos en el Organo Barroco de la Parroquia de Santiago de Querétaro (Mexico), International Organ Summer Festival in Rome, XXVIII Festival Internazionale di Noale, Rassegna Antichi organi di Piacenza, Associazione Alessandro Scarlatti di Napoli, Associazione Studi Mezzogiorno, Associazione Ricercare, Accademia Organistica Campana, Rassegna organistica internazionale di Avezzano, Rassegna organistica di Pescara, Settembre Organistico Fabrianese, Rassegna organistica veneta "Musica nell'Agordino", Rassegna "Musicalia" in Pavia, Festival Organistico Internazionale Città di Senigallia, Rassegna Organistica di Fiemme (Trento), Rassegna organistica della Svizzera italiana and for the International festivals performed at Notre Dame de Compassion in Paris, Merano Cathedral, Amalfi Cathedral, S. Vitale's Basilica in Ravenna, S. Ambrogio's Basilica in Milan and in Mexico City. She has recorded a Cd of Bach and pre-Bach music sponsored by the Goethe-Institut Italien. She is Artistic Director of the Festival "Musica intorno all'organo" at the St. Maria della Rotonda Church in Naples with the contralto Daniela Del Monaco. She was Artistic Director of the Concorso Organistico Nazionale Città di Napoli "11 Fiori del Melarancio". She taught "Organ and Organ composition" at F. Vittadini Civic Institute in Pavia and Organ at High School Alfano I in Salerno and at High School Palizzi in Naples. She is the official organist of Mascioni mechanical organ at St. Maria della Rotonda Church and at Santa Chiara's Basilica in Naples.

12. SOCRATIC LECTURES
11.1.2025 ONLINE

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM FEATURING EXCELLENT SCIENCE FOR STUDENTS

SYMPOSIUM WILL TAKE PLACE SATURDAY 11.1.2025 FROM 10.00 TO 17.00 AT <https://uni-lj.si.zoom.us/j/98434774673>

We are kindly inviting presentations from all fields of science and art that support life friendly methods and purposes. We will publish peer reviewed proceedings (minimum 4 pages), each will have its own DOI. We welcome oral presentations, posters and organization of sections. Participation of students is highly warranted. All activities are free of charge. Socratic Lectures are a part of the Z-STEAM activities of the Laboratory of Clinical Biophysics, Faculty of Health Sciences, University of Ljubljana. Link for registration is at www.lkbf.si/about
